Launched in 2014 to recognize teams using Open Infrastructure to meaningfully improve business and differentiate in a competitive industry, while also contributing back to the open source communities

Is it possible to have an LFE award program to encourage adoption and contribution?

Principles

- › Purpose and intent - to recognize users (companies) or contributors (individuals/companies) that are considered to have accelerated adoption of edge computing , fostered cross-industry collaboration across IOT, telecom and cloud sectors, or delivered value to customers by providing platforms developed under the umbrella of LF edge.
- › Annual awards
- › Process
  - › An award recognition committee appointed by the LF Edge TAC, which consists of technical leaders and LFE staff.
  - › Nominations, following the principle that “anyone can nominate anyone”. A nominee can be either a member or a non-member company. TAC members are encouraged to nominate those that are eligible. Nominee shall be notified and can reject the nomination. Consent from the nominee shall be required.
  - › Award recognition committee review nominations and award ballots are created.
  - › Award recognition committee vote.
  - › Governing board recognizes winners through media (LFE website, PRs).

Recommended Corporate Awards Categories

- › Breakthrough Edge Computing Deployment
  - › to recognize successful landing of edge computing, either a commercial deployment or an innovative demonstration on some world-renowned event throughout the past year
- › Top Collaboration Company
  - › to recognize the company which actively participated in LFE events (Tech Summit, Project releases, etc.) and well-collaborated with the board and staff throughout the past year

Recommended Individual Awards Categories

- › Top Contributor
  - › to recognize the individual(s) who made top contributions and engagements throughout the past year
- › Top Documentarian
  - › to recognize the individual(s) who made excellent documentation contributions to LFE and its projects throughout the past year
- › Top Ambassador
  - › to recognize the individual who helped spread awareness of the LFE and its projects, and drove interest and excitement around the ecosystem
- › Women of the Year
  - › to recognize the female individual(s) who had excellent engagements in LFE projects and events throughout the past year
